

Income Eligibility Guidelines *

1. Find your household size. Programs may count your household size differently. Call for clarification.
2. Follow the row across to find the income column that is just above your gross monthly income.
 Example: Your monthly income is $2,000 for a household of 3. You would look at the column that shows $2,823.
3. Follow the column down. The boxes with a ☺ are programs for which you may be eligible based on income.
4. Some programs may allow for deductions from your income before determining eligibility. Deductions such as: Child support paid out, medical premiums, childcare payments or $90 per working adult could help to make you eligible.
